MUNICIPAL SHAREHOLDERS.

The "Mahrousa"—A hot debate took place at a recent meeting of the Alexandria Municipal Commission, in regard to the position of monopole companies and the right of the Municipal authorities to deal with such companies when they deviate from the right way, or trespass upon the rights of the public. The debate has thrown light on some very curious things which can hardly pass unnoticed. It appeared that many of the members of the Commission are shareholders in the companies referred to; and the state of things had naturally led to their intervention, defending—it may be without special intention—the interests of the companies. A deference like this can only have one of three results; (a) the loss of the public right, (b) the postponement of the question for a long time, or (c) the banding one with another in such a way as to make discussion useless.

TRADE IN EGYPT.

The "Akhbar" (from an article by a student in the School of Commerce in Cairo).— The students of the Agricultural School have decided to set up a new establishment for the manufacturing of butter and cheese, and the students of the School of Commerce are collecting money for the purpose of organising a big grocery. Others have formed a capital for making sandale. All this denotes the beginning of a new business renaissance. Every Egyptian should know that the way of trade is widely open before him, and that there are still many doors before us which have not yet been entered by Egyptians, such as the opening of a native library on modern lines, etc. Let the Egyptian step forward and do all sorts of works which tend to raise the community and yield benefit to the country. We ought not only to boast of our energetic young men but also to encourage them and support their establishments.

CONSUMPTION IN EGYPT.

The "Ahram."— The law in every civilised country orders that every case of infectious disease should be reported to the Public Health Service so that it may take the necessary steps to prevent the spread of that disease and safeguard the health of the public. The list of infectious diseases differs to a certain extent according to the position and conditions of the country. The latest numbers received of the French journals report that the Medical Academy in Paris decided in a recent sitting that consumption is one of the diseases the cases of which have to be officially reported to the Health Service. The decision runs as follows:—

1. The welfare of the public requires the compulsory reporting of cases of consumption as soon as the disease appears.

2. The report must be submitted to the Public Health Doctors, who should take the necessary measures for protection against the disease.

3. The Government must supply necessary accommodation for the victims of tuberculosis and take care of their families.

We call the attention of the Egyptian Public Health Administration to this question, especially as we see that this disease is spreading in this country and there is not a single hospital here which accepts consumptive persons. The benevolent societies which care for the health of people have on more than one occasion complained of the want of a hospital for the treatment and to save of consumption as well as the members of their families who live with them under one roof.

FREE PRESS PASSES.

The "Moktattam" (from its daily article "Summary of News").— When the present military control is removed in Europe, and the writers and the press of the world reap their usual freedom, light will be thrown on many detailed acts of the Peace Conference, which have shrouded in mystery, and many facts which are now unexplainable will then be made clear. Much literature is expected to be written next autumn and in the following year on the subject. He who reads the European press in the meantime will see references and allusions which are of great interest and importance, but without details, and this is what people will be able to have when the leading men now assembled in Paris conclude their work and return to their various countries, and the press scatters its freedom. The world will then know the importance of the mission undertaken by the members of the Conference, specially the Council of Four, and what great efforts have been made for the purpose of reconciling the conflicting interests and various demands. People will then be fair to them and pay them all the thanks and praise they deserve.

RACING NOTES.

FACTS, FORM AND FANCIES.

(By G.G.)

The failure of the "All Horses" race to fill was a bit of bad luck, in a way, for, instead of a score running in a mile race, we have two very nicely balanced races of half that number. Congratulations on a really wise move, though it probably means that I'll select an extra loser or so. Reverting to last week's racing, I can say that I'm glad to see that Hafez was put down for a week for his handing of Salama for, I hate to see jockeys or any one else for that matter—in trouble, but I tipped Salama and in our Thursday's issue wrote "On their form pitting Garran and Salama were inseparable, yet the former won quite easily, and the other is still running, as they tell me."

NEWCOMERS' PLATE, so called because the horses entered are old opponents, all of them, has Fire, having run on May 24. As the race is not a handicap it does not need a great mind to size up the fact that "on paper" Fayoum should win it. I don't think that Hurry On will beat Sidi in their gallops this time. Indeed, Sidi may even beat Fayoum.

ANFOUCHY HANDICAP (One Mile). — I wonder when the top weight, Khalifa, is going to contribute to the extra bill (there's nothing like shaming these Arabs). On some form he could win it, but he seems unable to get ranked. Shahraman may perhaps miss the companionship of Sofar, yet he must go close on last week's form. Digby, the "Sheikh" tell us, is one to let alone, but Mashkour's form will bear inspection, on the other hand, the stable seem out of luck. Pierrot won't be the long price at which he once won and Rubi has a chance second to none if he will just all in—Eric will prove a furious behind last week and then simply flew up the straight. Fathy has enough weight on Cheibouh gets eight pounds for three quarters of a length, all the same, I prefer him of the two. Abu Kheyasha seems a new bit outclassed but Gharraf on his third to Mashkour and Pierrot has a roughie. The weights are nicely adjusted that the best horse of the race, in my view, depends largely upon jockeyship, and, of course, George wo'n't select a dud. This I rely upon his judgment and couple Digby's mount with Khalifa, taking Fathy as a b. Only jockeyship considerations compel me to leave out Mashkour.

PALAIS HANDICAP (Once Round). — This is even worse than the first race last week, for we have Mengali and the top again but there are two weighted even below Giffan. I can tell you the best proved stayer at once—Ardaghir. But how has he run for the last year! Something dreadful! Arlequin will have time to recover from his habitual bad start, but he may turn round the other way on this occasion and welcome on coming home. Giffan will be suited by the distance and Abu Ali might quite easily do it if he can stay, as he was fourth to Annas. Selections are given "without prejudice" Ardaghir or Arlequin (3) n.b. Abu Ali (horr.ble).

The "Ace" tips for Saturday:—

GAMARY HIGH WEIGHT HANDICAP (5 Furlongs).—Fancy seeing punters like Cheriff gain 11 lb. up—and possessing a chance too! Fauzi will carry his 10.4 without an effort; he has the property of a drag in the big 1 quarters; funniest Arab I've seen. It's not a bit of good trying to juggle with "form," as the high weight will probably affect every horse differently. I'll take the two lightest weights in Mouloud and Madmoun and scatter it, hinting that Madmoun, at his best, will be thereabouts.

NILE HANDICAP.

FLAMBEAU (10.8) has been on the shelf a long time but I understand is now very well. If gets, he will want a lot of beating.

GIANDARM (10.5) will probably start favourite, but my view is that he would not beat Flambeau at his best.

ALNAMY (9.0). The distance is hardly far enough for this good horse.

ATALANTA (8.10). The last time she ran she was a mere ran I put so much money on her that she could not carry it and broke down. She is a real good one but has been away from a race course for an even longer period than the top weight.

K.I. (8.3). Never out of it, as a vanquisher of Gladiator?

GIRGIS (8.2). Very useful at his best.

TIGRANE (8.1) and Arabs 7.3. Tigrane should be the better of the two and if his trainer fancies him—he can do.

GRAYLING (7.13) I don't quite like at six furlongs to such "rapid" company.

SUNDANAPAL (7.12) might create a surprise.

PEPROS (7.8) will have to show very great improvement on Extra form to have a chance. But you never can tell with the fair sex!

Selection: Flambeau or Tigrane, n.b. Sardanapal and Gladiator.

NOUZHA HANDICAP (One Mile).—Malek must have a good chance at 9.0, too, despite Mabrouk, but if Sultan wins at a mile I'll—no, no, I nearly said it about Pa'ic when he won and I'm not a lover of horseflesh, however well cooked it may be. Anyway, if any of my clients back Sultan with me and he wins, you'll know I've had a bad day because I shall "stick" it! Sofar is without Shaharaman and will probably be much closer than he was last week. Shark at a mile—no. (No nasty tricks, Mr. Trainer!) Fathy Bey has a better chance than he had last week but has nothing in hand of Malek, to whom he ran second on May 17. What has become of Bellemi's old racing? Dagor always starts favourite, or thereabouts, and he'll be there again. Roi de l'Air might be one of Mr. M's surprises, and Meteor has so dropped from time to time, that he ought to be well backed. Selections: Dagor or Meteor, n.b.'s Malek and Sofar.

The last race really deserves a lengthy summary but like many other people I find seven days rather a trial. Besides, I've overrun my allotted space already.

Selections: Rapineur or Rizk, n.b.'s Menelik and Salem.

SUMMARY OF SELECTIONS.

FAYOUM or SIDI.
DIGBY'S mount, or KHALIFA, n.b. FATHY ARDASHIR, or Arlequin, n.b. ABU ALI.
BRULEUR or MADMOUN, n.b. FAKOUS.
FLAMBEAU or TIGRANE, n.b.'s SARDANAPAL and GLADIATEUR.
DAGOR or METEOR, n.b.'s MALEK and SOFAR.
RAPINEUR or RIZK, n.b. MENELIK and SALEM.

CODE SELECTIONS.

Placed in order of preference:—
Fancy That! ... Father's Fancy
Mum's the word ... Rough Chance

THINGS WE WANT TO KNOW:—

Whether it is a fact that the A.S.C. has promised to provide trainers and grooms alike with perfumes as a "Peace" offering.

⁂

What has caused such a shortage of soap in Alexandria that one has to pay heavily for a small tablet at an hotel before one can get a wash—rather irritating after a long journey, to say the least.

⁂

Whether the abandonment of the race for "All Horses" (for maidens) today was not a horrible tragedy for at least one owner.

⁂

Whether the sportsman (!) who touched us for a fiver on the course (and kicked a stumer) at our suggestion (!) twelve months ago is really so deficient in foresight as his conduct on our last meeting face to face would lead one to believe—our fair face, once seen, is something to remember, and we really need a fiver very badly—other papers please copy (Balash).

THINGS WE HEAR:—

Galley the jockey was married in Cairo on Saturday last. Best congratulations.

⁂

Price, says the "Echo," who is in charge of Jenkins' string, having been detained in Cairo has placed Predicateur, Sultan and Holland in charge of the new English trainer T. Trotter.

⁂

Mr. Sheffield's string have been placed in the hands of Simon Tostjan.

⁂

It is probable that neither Fifty nor Fayoum will run on Saturday.

⁂

Abu Ali will run in the Palais Handicap and will be scratched for his other engagements.

Worn-out Men Made Strong
Dr. Cassell's Tablets Build Up Splendid Strength and Vigour.
You must become weak and worn out if the vital strength of your body is used up too rapidly. Or if you cannot eat your food properly, and get the nourishment out of it into strength and your health too will fail. What you need is Dr. Cassell's Tablets. They nourish the vital part of you, and put living energy into your whole body. That is why Dr. Cassell's Tablets are so good for weak people.
The Rev. CLARENCE SINCLAIR, M.A., D.D., 1, WYNNE-STREET, BRADFORD, YORKS, ENG., writes:—"I know of nothing to equal Dr. Cassell's Tablets. Their marvellous effect is really wonderful. Strength and energy seem to spring up anew after a course of them."

All-British SUITS By Post
Saving 40 to 50 per cent.
THE British Government by purchasing the 1918 "Wool Clip" of Australia, South Africa and the Argentine, controls the world's wool supply. Yet there is a large demand by the Allies, Greece alone, which alone has begun factoring entire wools over a million bales. As large wool and cloth exports are now diverted from Bradford, there is a large demand for all national credit overseas. Our position at the centre of the biggest cloth producing district in the world has enabled us to keep up the quality standard, so that price for price our Suits or trouserings are better than ever before, our goods are going and easily 40 to 50 per cent. better than overseas tailors can offer.
Unique Copyright System of Self-Measurement.
THOUSANDS of men all over the globe are getting their suits made to our measure year after year. When you see the chest you'll be surprised at its ease and suitability. Measure yourself every measure exactly as a tailor would. Men order again and again, saying—"same measures as last, the suit was just right."
