SEA COMMUNICATIONS WITH SYRIA.

The Italian steamer which is going to Syria shortly is still in the western harbour, in Alexandria. According to the agency of the company to which she belongs the day of her departure for Beirut is not quite fixed. There is an Italian steamer in the port which is leaving shortly for Cyrenaica and other ports of Tripoli.

The Company accepts passengers possessed of permit and passports.

PARCELS FOR SYRIA.

The General Post Office notifies that the French Military Base Port Said, whither port parcels for Syria have hitherto been forwarded for transmission to destination, having informed its inability to continue to do so, such parcels should be sent to the port which is leaving shortly for Cyrenaica and other ports of Tripoli.

of permit and passports.

ALEXANDRIA PROFITEERS.

(To THE EDITOR OF THE EGYPTIAN GAZETTE.)

Sir—There need not be any great surprise when reading your letter of the 20th inst.

regarding the profiteering of the agents of Alexandria. I have also had the misfortune to approach one of the leading agents to buy a duck decoy and was asked to pay for it 200 francs. The reason was that I had agreed and promised to return the day with the permit for the purchase of 300 of these decoys. The next day I was told that the price was P.T. 70 and that I could have them if I did want them. The reason was that the permit was not issued. I am sure that many other people have been deceived in this way.

THE NATIVE PRESS.

THE POST OFFICE AND ITS OFFICIALS.

The "Shahin" (from an article on the treatment of the native press in the Postal Administration). The Postal Service, which is in direct contact with the public is more like a commercial establishment than the Government department, and business places have to take the confidence of people who deal with them. With the consideration in view the Post Office ought to have very honest employees and ought to be anxious to safeguard the reputation of her officials, and to deal strictly with those who violate that reputation. The Postal Administration has, since its establishment enjoyed a good reputation in this respect, and it was for some time a source of pride to its officials. It is now, however, a source of disappointment to the public. On more than one occasion the administration has proved the innocence of its employees. On the other hand, it has been guilty of several cases of dishonesty in the past. The Postal Administration has
