REPORT.

MOMENTOUS DOCUMENT.

FUTURE OF BRITISH INDUSTRY.

LONDON, April 4. At the Industrial Commission the report moved by Mr. Henderson was carried amid acclamations. He welcomed the report of the Provisional Joint Committee and agreed to submit the acceptance of constitutional organisations immediately the Government legislation.

Mr. Henderson said that giving effect to the report would be an example to the whole world.

Sir Allan Smith, the Chairman of the Employers' representatives, seconded, said that employers would put the report in operation in the spirit as well as in the letter. If Trade Unionists did the same there was no fear for the future of the nation.

Sir R. S. Horne said that the report was the most momentous document presented to the country for many years.

Representative of Labour, Mr. J. A. Maitland, addressing the Board of Trade yesterday, said that the Board of Trade was trying to establish peace in industry, which was nearly as difficult and critical as the war itself.

The position was very serious because not merely credit but credit must be given to the countries in order to sell our goods to them. To get a maximum of credit there should be an amalgamation of the business and industrial world.

A mission was going to the Far East in connection with the new trade agreements.

GERMANY'S FALL.

A DRAMATIC STORY.

THE FINAL COLLAPSE.

BERLIN, April 4. Printed extracts of General Ludendorff's account of the fall of the German Government are being widely distributed. It is said that on August 8 finally determined the fate of military victory.

On August 16th Ludendorff admits that he favoured immediate steps towards peace in September. The Supreme Army Command wanted mediation by Holland. Furthermore he informed the Chancellor that he regarded the Bolshevik danger very seriously.

The first and second German replies to Mr. Wilson's notes were approved by the Army Command. After this the War Minister advised he could furnish within a measurable period another half a million of men, whereupon General Ludendorff did not favour unconditional surrender considering as he did that Hindenburg could continue the war for some months.

But what follows is a hitherto unprinted chapter in the history of Germany's defeat and ultimate collapse. By General Staff, correspondent of the "Morning Post." Among other things, it is said that the German Government was brought about by internal and subsidiary causes.

The last event of the November Revolution and it provides complete proof that Germany's surrender was a direct result of the military circumstances imposed upon her by the Allies.

Under the same circumstances the military conditions upon which the supporters of the Government were based were completely shattered.

It is remembered that in his recent speech of defence in the National Assembly Ludendorff was received from Great Headquarters.

colle. "And probably Posen, also?" queried another. "Also to that thought must we try to reconcile ourselves," answered Vice-Payer, adding.

On his own initiative, the Government has still done the following: It has asked the Army leadership to come to Berlin and explain exactly the position, and why it has come about so suddenly.

Such was the manner in which the German Government first announced Germany's surrender. The effect on the nation was not only a shock, but it was a shock.

As was betrayed by their individual demoralisation, the effect on the nation was not only a shock, but it was a shock.

THE CENTRAL POWERS.

UNREST IN GERMANY.

NO SOVIET IN BAVARIA.

BERLIN, April 5. The railwaymen are threatening to strike on April 10. The "Berliner Tageblatt" publishes a warning against this because the Entente is not landing troops at Danzig only on condition that the railway transportation of troops across Germany proceeds rapidly.

The Cabinet has accepted an amendment to the law of the 19th of March enabling the workers to collaborate on an equal footing with employers as regards wages, the conditions of labour and the entire economic development of productive forces.

It is reported from Stuttgart that it is officially announced that a fight occurred during the evening of April 3 with four hundred Spartacists, who dug trenches of the hills between Stuttgart and Stuttgart. They placed in position two machine-guns. Artillery bombarded the machine-gun nests.

News from Stuttgart announces that the general strike of the Spartacists has collapsed and the leaders have been arrested. The Government controls the situation.

News from Berlin states that according to a report from the German Armistice Commission at Spa the armistice obviates the use of Danzig and argues for the use of other routes round Germany.

Apparently the news of the proclamation of a Soviet Republic in Bavaria (cabled yesterday evening) is premature.

News from Munich dated April 6 states that yesterday evening the Bavarian Republic has been proclaimed. The city was completely quiet. The Munich "Botschafter" states that the Bavarian Republic refused to participate in a "mock Soviet Republic."

It is reported from Nuremberg that on April 6, the Bavarian National Conference of the Social Democratic Party passed a resolution to abstain from any action against the introduction of a Soviet Republic in Bavaria.

The Entente Pool Commission in Bavaria has been notified that it must have should a Soviet Republic be proclaimed.

NEW MINISTRY FORMED.

RUSHDY PASHA PRIME MINISTER.

EVENTS IN CAIRO.

CAIRO, April 10. The situation throughout the province is reported as very satisfactory.

In Cairo, disorderly crowds composed of the worst elements of the city gathered yesterday in groups from which, at the request of the civil authorities, the military patrols had been withdrawn. They proceeded to murder and loot the quarters inhabited by small shopkeepers until checked by the arrival of troops.

Five British soldiers are reported to have been murdered, of whom one in the Aladin Square, two in the Sharia Mohamed Ali, and two (married Indians) at Khalig el Maari. Owing to the behaviour of the mob the troops were several times obliged to open fire and a considerable number of casualties were inflicted.

The Raw el Alin hospital yesterday received 22 killed and 47 wounded of these civilian casualties, a large proportion were due to outrages by the mob. The Government has been instructed to prepare complete returns of the casualties which have occurred in Cairo since the 1st inst.

Our Cairo correspondent writes:— Tuesday, the 8th April, will remain a memorable day in Cairo. The whole population of Cairo, from the lowest to the highest classes, were in the streets taking part in the greatest manifestation that ever took place in the city.

It was expected that Saad Pasha Zaghlool and his family would arrive about 2 p.m., and that this arrival would be the signal for the demonstration to begin.

The demonstration began at 2 p.m. and continued until about 10 p.m. The demonstration was a very successful one, and the whole population of Cairo took part in it.

was, in 1880, appointed editor of the Official Journal, then Masrur, under the Ministry of the Interior, and next to the post of Chief of Consulate for the Arabic of Gish. Following upon the Arabic revolt he was dismissed from office. When the Native Tribes were instituted in 1884, he began to prepare for the post. A 1892 was appointed Counsellor at the Ministry of the Interior. They began the study of the French language, and the science of law, and in due course he obtained his diploma in law. He held the portfolio of Education from 1896, and that of Justice in 1910. He resigned the latter post in 1912 during the Mohammed Ali. He was elected Vice-President of the Legislative Assembly on its formation, and its promulgation of the Organic Law of 1913.
