The Sultan is expected to visit the Alexandria Municipality shortly. His Highness will be received at the Commission's meeting hall which is the best hall in the Municipal building.

A telegram received at Alexandria yesterday from the 20th inst. of the Marquis Francesco Negroto Cambiaso, Major in an Italian Cavalry Regiment and holder of the Italian Diplomatic Agent and Consul General in Egypt, who is spending the summer at Bulkiy.

The late Judicial Adviser, Sir Malcolm MacLachlan, is spending his leisure in continually writing articles. His latest effort appears in the "New Egypt" and the Editor of that paper had suggested that he should write something in the nature of reminiscences, and Sir Malcolm, in reply, has written the matter over in my mind, my eye on the photograph of Boutros Pasha on my mantelpiece, and it occurred to me that a few words about the troubled times in which he lived, and which culminated in his tragic death, might be of interest. It is the only number with which he was connected, and I thought to write close contact, I am happy to say, and the circumstances have accordingly remained vividly impressed on my mind. ## EGYPT'S FOOD SUPPLY.

WHY NOT TRY CO-OPERATION ?

(To the Editor, "Egyptian Gazette.") Sir, We are all so much occupied with the pressure that we have placed on the world in general. The press of all sorts here cannot report the situation of the food supply in nearly all cases upon the Government to indicate the position of the food supply. There is no doubt that the food supply is in a state of emergency, and it is not likely to be improved for many years to come.

Supplies are quite adequate and prices charged for many goods are quite reasonable. In all other countries co-operative stores have been established, and the food supply is in a state of emergency, and it is not likely to be improved for many years to come.

CAIRO TO CAPE TOWN.

500 MILES TO BE FILLED UP.

With the completion of the Katanga railway on May 22 remains only the building of two missing links, together about 500 miles in length, to meet the rail and river communication between Cape Town and Cairo.

The Katanga Railway gives through communication between Cape Town to Bukama, on the Upper Congo. The total length of railway from Cape Town to Bukama, via Kimberley, is 2,670 miles, all of the standard South African gauge, 3ft. 6 in. The completion of the line, which is being hurriedly completed, at the end of 1915, has been delayed by the war, and that it should have been finished in existing conditions is a creditable performance to the last section of railway that is interrupted communication between South Africa and the 5,000 miles of navigable waters of the Congo system, the Luabala being the western of the two streams that unite to form the Congo.
