UPPER EGYPT UNREST.

THE DEIRUT OUTRAGES.

Mohd. Abul Zaid Ali, a landowner, one of the accused deposed that certain persons, whom he named, tried to persuade him to attend a demonstration on the 18th; he said he was going to Alan Frenchise on business. He arrived at the station at 8.12; the demonstrators were already there; he tried to get a ticket, when the train got in he went into a second carriage and met the Bimbashi, saying the affair would ruin the country. Accused took no part in beating officers or in getting the staff.

The omads of Fier Mowas stated that owing to certain houses having been broken into he had to put guards on to protect himself. Accused declared that he discouraged demonstrations. He took some people with him to the station when he heard of the trouble. When he arrived accused found the judge van with the bodies in it and said his house was ruined. He told the guards to fire a few rounds in the air, they refused, the accused was hit on the head and stunned.

There were no officers alive when he reached the station.

Evidence of several accused following accused that they went to the station to see what was the matter, but they were the staff taken from the station master; they only heard people talking about it.

THE WAR OF SECTS.

(To The Editor, "Egyptian Gazette.")

Sir, May I reply to "Oulokher" who in your issue of today asks me some questions? It is not easy to answer the first one because I have no "yet forth of Deity" or religious dogma to defend, as is defined, as "Oulokher" has asked for evidence, and I am an ordinary member of the English Church, who has lived for centuries, and accepted what seemed to me a challenge thrown down by "Oulokher" who says that the Church is a "dead dog" and that the Church is a "dead dog" and that the Church is a "dead dog" and that the Church is a "dead
