BRITISH AVIATORS' AMAZING

ADVENTURES.

Recently a British airman, flying a powerful machine at 16,000 feet over totsend, had the first a held, a very unusual cocurrance. The machine turned upside down, out of control, and the pilot was thrown out of his seat. By one inexplicable manosenve he managed to clamber thine, actricle of which he sat as if he were riding a horse. Though the machine was out of control, owing to the loss of its full planes, yet by moving forwards and that it pilod fairly steadily downwards, although it was upside down. He successfully brought it across the German lines and came andely to within a few huntand was injured, but is now recovering in hopital.
