THOUGHTS ON GOING ON LEAVE.

I want an English morning, Foggy and wet and cold; For this I'd go a pawning. Air that I've got worth gold.

To ask a policeman in London If it's summer or winter time; To climb a 'bus and abandon My ears to Bow Bells' chime;

To ride in a 3rd class carriage On a slow suburban line, I'd land sea-sick at Harwich Nor wish the weather fine.

To buy the daily papers
For quite a trifling sum,
I'd cut surprising capers,
I would, else strike me dumb!

To buy a loaf called cottage; To crack an egg that's brown, For home's remembered pottage I'd risk my chief's worst frown

I'm sick to death of gharrys, Garra and girshe'saa, With all Toms, Dicks and Harry, Who feel below their par.
