THE NEW MINISTRY.
The position in which Roadshy Pasha finds himself techy calls for sot a little symtathy. For menths a spirit of insubordination has been brewing and its full cup has to be drenks not by those who like the President of the Council of Ministers, are inspired by more constitutional though not less patriotic ideals. Love of liberty is an essential to a true spirit of national independence, but among the agritude of the president of the section o demand will be mode for far sterner mea-sures of suppression than have hitherto been put in force. Meanwhile it is to be hoped that wiser counsels will have prevailed among the Government officials who have chosen to maintain their strike, in spite of
