REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.

A correspondent writes:—
The meaning of Reuter's telegrams is frequently difficult to follow and this was especially so in the recent announcement of that Telegraphic Agency to the effect rises the conversion of the Lake d'Averno into a 'dry dock.'' A dry dock of some 150-200 acres would indeed be "Some Wonder." A dry dock, or graving dock, as it is sometimes called according to old fashioned nomenclature, is a dock to which a ship is admitted and from which which as the samitted and from which which are to be a subject of the same and t
